OUR WORK IS MORE THAN JUST A HUMAN EFFORT

As an institution dedicated to serving people in need of health care, the Saint Cloud Hospital and those of us who are associated with it assume a serious obligation. We say, in effect, that we stand ready—twenty-four hours a day, three hundred and sixty-five days of the year—to meet the health care needs of the people of the area within our capability to do so.

It is against this commitment that we can measure our performance during the past year. And in reviewing the statistics and recalling the major activities of the period July 1, 1975, to June 30, 1976, it is clear that we have experienced another year of notable success.

For example, the number of patients served has again increased. But beyond the statistical totals lies the fact that, because of the added physician specialists as members of the Medical Staff and the consequent increase in referrals to staff physicians from throughout the central Minnesota area, hospitalized patients tended to be more acutely ill or afflicted with more severe injury requiring more intense and sophisticated treatment than in the past. This was particularly evident in the nursing care areas where staffing patterns needed to be enriched to meet the more critical needs of patients.

How well we care for the patient as a whole person is, of course, the ultimate test of our success as a health care organization. To effectively integrate and coordinate the efforts of the hundreds of people who are involved in providing that care, and to assure that the proper facilities, equipment and supplies are available at the right place at the right time is no small task. It requires a common dedication to the service of our fellow man, cooperative spirit and appropriate skills on the part of all who are involved, resulting in a team approach that recognizes the critical importance of each contributor to the total effort.

And while quality of patient care is of uppermost concern, the cost to provide it is also a significant factor. Many, many efforts are being made to contain the rising costs of providing patient care—and those efforts are producing some positive results. Proof of this is the fact that our cost comparisons with hospitals of similar size and scope of services have shown a widening gap between our average per-day charge and that of other hospitals. Our most recent report shows the average charge in those hospitals to be $31.74 per day higher than at Saint Cloud Hospital. And while this is admittedly a gross measurement, it is a widely used and published comparison indicator of the cost of hospital care to patients.

In a brief message such as this, it is not possible to mention all of the significant decisions and actions that were taken during the past year to assure patients of high quality care at the lowest possible cost. Neither is it possible to pay tribute to all who gave so unsparingly of their time and effort to the care of patients during the past year. Suffice it to say that the entire hospital family—the sponsors, the board of trustees, the administrative and medical staffs, all personnel and volunteers, each performed their roles in an exemplary manner. It is this combined effort, each component recognizing the essential importance of the other, that produces the kind of result that is worthy of our identity as a truly Catholic hospital. I am very grateful to be a part of it.

Gene S. Bakke
Executive Vice President

CHALLENGE, OPPORTUNITY, STRUGGLE, ACHIEVEMENT

...find them all in
90 years of health care

In this bicentennial year of our country's history, Saint Cloud Hospital completed its 90th year of providing health care to the people of this area. The Benedictine Sisters in 1886 listened to God's call to provide a means for His healing mission to the people of St. Cloud; they responded by building a hospital in the city. The nine decades since then are a story of challenges and opportunities, of struggles and achievements in the cause of making Christ's love visible through ministering to the health care needs of His people. It is a story of strongly motivated Christian people united in responding to God's call as they perceive it in the changing needs and trends of the times.

Our Board's over-riding concern at the beginning of the final decade of its first century is that Saint Cloud Hospital continue to give corporate witness to the fundamental human values of the sanctity of life and the dignity and moral equality of all persons.

The delivery of health care today is characterized by highly technical procedures, computerized programs and a network of regulations and controls. In such a setting, even though treatment is of high quality, there is a very real possibility that the atmosphere of personalized care and concern for the patient will be lacking. If Saint Cloud Hospital is to continue to be an extension of Christ's mission of mercy to all people who come there, it is essential that it provide and foster a climate of person-oriented concern. It must be truly a community of love, a mutually caring and cared-for group of people, each one respecting and acknowledging the contribution of every other member.

One segment of God's people which is being drawn more closely into the hospital community is the elderly. The construction of St. Benedict's Center, a 220-bed nursing care facility, as a subsidiary of the hospital was approved by the Board of Trustees this year. This facility will constitute the first phase of a comprehensive living center planned for the elderly. By taking this action the Board provided for the continuation by the Sisters of St. Benedict of the health care apostolate to the elderly in the St. Cloud area and for Saint Cloud Hospital to provide a comprehensive health care program for this area. This decision, made 90 years after the Sisters opened their health care mission, can rightly be looked upon as a tribute to the faith and love of these pioneers. It is evidence, moreover, of the Board's desire to re-dedicate itself to the Christian values of the original commitment.

To the members of the Board I express deep appreciation and gratitude. All have shared generously of themselves, their talents and their expertise. They have made substantial commitments of time in carrying out their trust. In the course of my work with them over the year I have often been impressed by their unselfish dedication to the Church's health care mission entrusted to Saint Cloud Hospital.

I cannot end this message without expressing appreciation to Mr. Gene Bakke, the Chief Executive Officer, for his capable leadership and the unquestionably convinced Catholic witness he brings to his position. A word of recognition is due also to the members of his staff for the high quality of their performance.

May this spirit of interdependence continue to flourish at Saint Cloud Hospital!

*Sister Henrita Osendorf, O.S.B.
President of the Board of Trustees*

A BRIEF LOOK AT HIGHLIGHTS of the Past 90 Years.

September, 1885. Dr. A. C. Lamonthe Ramsey opened St. Cloud's first hospital. Because of time limitations, Dr. Ramsey asked the Sisters of the Order of St. Benedict to take over the operation of the facility.

February, 1886. The St. Benedict's Hospital, a new $2000 building on Ninth Avenue North was dedicated. Four Sisters ran the hospital. They cared for only two patients the first month, and eight the second.

April, 1886. A cyclone tore apart St. Cloud and neighboring towns. The hospital, left standing, administered care to hundreds of injured. The praise and publicity of the Sisters' work during this crisis, gave their hospital the public acceptance it needed.

1887. In the first two years of operation 400 patients received care.

1889. The need for expansion and larger staff prompted the Sisters to accept a gift of five acres of land near the Reformatory to build another hospital.

May, 1890. St. Raphael's Hospital was dedicated and opened to give area patients the most "modern" health care.

1897. After seven years of waiting in vain for a promised bridge, road and streetcar line, the Sisters undertook the job of financing their third Hospital. It was constructed on a site adjacent to their original Hospital on 9th Avenue where transportation lines were already established.

1900. The St. Benedict's Hospital with room to accommodate 50 patients, was dedicated and began serving the community's health care needs.

1928. With their present building now outdated the Sisters, once again, took up the challenge of building yet a fourth hospital on the site where the current St. Cloud Hospital stands.

1966. An 8 year, 10 million dollar construction, renovation program began which added the Southwest and Northwest Wings, plus a complete renovation of the interior.

1974. Construction, renovation project completed.

1975. Plans for constructing St. Benedict's Center, a nursing care facility for the elderly were begun. St. Benedict's Hospital and will replace the public services lost by the phasing out of St. Raphael's and St. Joseph's Homes.

OUR CONTRIBUTION TO PATIENT CARE

Efforts by all members of the Saint Cloud Hospital staff are continually focused on providing total patient care—enabling us to treat spiritual and personal needs as well as physical needs. This past year, our personnel were able to provide care and services for 17,380 in-patients and 23,161 out-patients. Some of the Hospital's Highlights and achievements of the past year are recorded below:

- The designation of the Metropolitan Health Care Foundation as the P.S.R.O. for our geographic area will allow our Hospital to carry on audit activities according to local standards and criteria.
- Efforts continued during the year to achieve eventual accreditation of our in-hospital Medical Staff education programs for category credit by the Minnesota State Medical Association and the American Medical Association. This will be of great help for our staff physicians and area physicians in obtaining educational credits for future relicensure.

- A cooperative arrangement has been developed with the Veterans Administration Hospital of St. Cloud which enables the members of each institution to share in the educational resources available at each.
- NCME tapes have been regularly purchased to establish a library of audiovisual tapes to aid physician members of the staff in maintaining educational efforts on varied and current topics.
- The Hospital's Board of Trustees accepted the Medical Staff's bylaws defining the role and function of allied health professionals within the Hospital as they are currently being utilized by physicians in this community.
- The Volunteer Candy Stripper Program was expanded to include Junior Male Volunteers. The first two volunteers were Steve Mahon and Rob Mackert.
- A 15 member Planning Advisory Committee was appointed by the Board of Trustees to develop a St. Benedict's Center facility for care of the elderly.
- The hospital received a Half-Century Award for being a member of the American Hospital Association (AHA) for 50 years.

- The Spiritual Care Department sponsored four programs in October commemorating Respect Life Month. These programs were "Life is Precious," "Children Live With Feelings, Too," "Respect Life Through Self Respect," and "Living With Grief."
- The Advisory Committee chose "St. Benedict's Center" to be the name of the new facility for care of the elderly in the St. Cloud area.
- The hospital employed three Vietnamese refugees as part of its involvement in the Vietnamese Relocation Program in the Diocese of St. Cloud.
- The Saint Cloud Hospital again received full accreditation from the Joint Commission on Accreditation of Hospitals.
- The Saint Cloud Hospital Auxiliary held its first annual Winter Wonderland Ball on November 15 at the Germain Hotel, which netted $6,000 and was proclaimed a great success.

Over 1400 people are involved in providing care at St. Cloud Hospital. It takes all these people doing a variety of necessary jobs, with skilled hands, trained minds and life-giving equipment, to assure each and every patient the best of care and the shortest possible route to recovery.

- Rebecca Hage, a Candy Stripper, was awarded first prize in a national writing contest sponsored by the President's Committee on the Employment of the Handicapped.
- Emergency Medical Services (EMS) Teams had a simulated accident on May 7 during Emergency Medical Services Week, May 3 to 9. EMS teams operating in the St. Cloud area included police and fire department personnel, ambulance attendants and Saint Cloud Hospital Emergency-Outpatient Department personnel.
- The Auxiliary donated $10,000 toward the purchase of telemetry equipment.
- The Minnesota Hospital Association's Rate Review Committee approved the hospital's new patient services rate schedule for fiscal 1977.

- 305 members of our Volunteer Department contributed 42,755¼ hours of service to patients and staff in 23 different departments at the Hospital.
- The Hospital's Schools graduated a total of 88 students this past year. The School of Medical Technology had seven, the School of Radiologic Technology had seven, the School of Anesthesia graduated three, and the School of Nursing, 71.

A Special Thank You

A word of special commendation is due to Everett Schmitz, M.D. of our Medical Staff and Mr. Jerry Weyrens, both of whom have come to the end of their second term on the Board of Trustees. Their constant interest and many hours of service for the Hospital have been greatly appreciated.

Special tribute should also be given to two physicians on our Medical Staff who retired from the active practice of medicine during the past year: John B. Beuning, M.D. who has been a member of this staff since 1929, and Gilman H. Goehrs, M.D., who has been on the staff since 1939. Their daily presence will be missed.

GROWTH and DEVELOPMENT

Activities of the Medical Staff for the 1975-76 year have been intense and varied. In addition to ongoing activities within the Staff itself, this year was marked by increased interaction between the Medical Staff, Administration and the Board of Trustees regarding Medical Staff matters. The JCAH survey of the hospital in August, 1975, prompted an increase in those activities of the staff related to documentation of the quality of medical care within the institution. This cooperative interaction was necessary to comply with the recommendations made during the survey.

This year also saw maturation in the development of the audit process of the medical staff. This important part of the Quality Assurance Program of the hospital has been functioning since the beginning of the previous year and expanded this past year to involve every clinical department of the Medical Staff. Refinements also occurred in the educational and self-regulatory processes that are integral to a successful audit process.

The commitments placed upon the staff the past year were considerable and necessitated increased demands upon the time of many physicians. I received willing cooperation from every member of the Medical Staff during this time, and I have been impressed by the importance these physicians place upon assuring the continuance of the high standards of competent and ethical medical care that are existent in this institution. I personally thank the members of the staff for their positive attitude which greatly aided me in the discharge of my responsibilities during this time.

William H. Rice, M.D.
Chief of the Medical Staff
